

ELECTION 2011: IMPORTANT REDISTRICTING INFORMATION

Don't Be Confused About:

New precincts

New polling places

New supervisor districts

New Virginia Senate districts

New Virginia Delegate districts

As required by law, the Virginia General Assembly redrew the lines for the Virginia Senate and House of Delegate districts, and the Prince William Board of Supervisors redrew the lines for the County's Supervisor districts this year. These changes will affect many district and precinct boundaries and will be effective for the November 8, 2011 general elections.

HOW DOES THIS AFFECT ME?

Your home may be in a new district or precinct, or you may cast your ballot in a new location or not recognize any of the candidates on the ballot.

HOW WILL I FIND OUT WHAT DISTRICTS I AM IN AND WHERE I GO TO VOTE?

All Prince William County voters, and the Cities of Manassas and Manassas Park voters should have received new voter cards with this information from the Virginia State Board of Elections (SBE) or local Office of Elections. Check to make sure that it has your correct name and address.

Online: Go to the Voter Information section of the Virginia SBE website: www.sbe.virginia.gov
